Ike's Selection Of Bonn Envoy Stirs GOP Ire

Marylander Gave $1,000 To Democrats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower's appointment of a $1,000 contributor to 1956 Democratic campaign funds as ambassador to West Germany threw Senate Republicans into an uproar tonight.

Overruling protests carried to the White House by some Republican leaders, Eisenhower sent to the Senate today the nomination of David K. E. Bruce, 59, of Maryland to be ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany.

Bruce, who was ambassador to France and undersecretary of state in the Truman administration, was listed by a Senate Elections subcommittee as having contributed $1,000 to "Democratic organizations" in a report covering the period from Jan. 1 to Nov. 30, 1956.

Senators "Incensed"

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said his colleagues were "incensed" at the appointment of "another Democratic campaign contributor to an important diplomatic post."

"That eliminates any armor we Senate Republicans might otherwise have to defend the administration from the attacks the Democrats are making on it," he declared.

"They ask us to defend Secretary Dulles and the President when they are criticized by the Democrats," Aiken said. "But everywhere there is an important job to be filled they give it to a Democrat."

Bruce Son Of Late Senator

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it was "too early to say" whether there would be any organized effort to block confirmation of Bruce's appointment. Bruce is the son of the late Sen. William C. Bruce, a Maryland Democrat.

There was no immediate Senate reaction to Eisenhower's appointment of Amory Houghton, 56, board chairman of the Corning Glass Works, to be ambassador to France. Corning Glass has been involved in one criminal and five civil antitrust actions brought by the government since 1939.

Eisenhower also nominated William J. Sebald, 55, a career diplomat, to be ambassador to Australia.

Teamster Union Counsel Resigns On Eve Of Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The general counsel for the Teamsters Union, J. Albert Woll, resigned today on the eve of a Senate probe into the union's affairs.

Woll said he quit because legal work for the teamsters had grown too great for him to handle and still take care of other clients.

A special Senate committee is due to open an investigation tomorrow into alleged racketeering in labor and industry.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said an alleged effort of hoodlums and teamsters officials to organize gambling and vice in Portland, Ore., will be the first matter coming up in the open hearings.

McClellan has said city and union officials, "gangsters," and prostitutes will figure in the testimony regarding the Portland situation, as well as recordings of hotel-room conversations.

Pair Of Former Convicts Held In Conn. Crime Wave

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 25 (AP)—Two ex-convicts, one of whom spent four years under a death sentence before being freed, today were being held as suspects in a wave of Connecticut killings and robberies.

State Police said the pair were spotted together in Hartford last Saturday, trailed, and then arrested separately after they parted company.

They were being questioned in connection with a series of recent holdups, and nine unsolved slayings in Connecticut since Sept. 25, 1956.

They were identified as Arthur Columbo, 33, of Hartford; and Joseph L. Taborsky, 53, formerly of Hartford but now a resident of Brooklyn. Taborsky had been doomed to die in 1951.

The two were held in $25,000 bail each.

NOMINATED — President Eisenhower yesterday nominated David K. E. Bruce (above), 59, of Maryland, to be ambassador to West Germany. Bruce, a member of the President's board of consultants on foreign intelligence activities, was a $1,000 contributor to 1956 Democratic campaign funds and his appointment threw Senate Republicans into an uproar. President Tells Mideast Reds Threaten Gains

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower broadcast a warning to the Middle East countries today that international communism could "smash all their hard-won accomplishments overnight."

He was speaking to all the world, on the 15th anniversary of the Voice of America overseas radio program. The speech was broadcast in 43 languages.

But Eisenhower centered on the Middle East, where some nations have trafficked with the Communists and others have flirted with the idea of doing so.

Hungary Tragic Example

He cited Hungary as a tragic example of a nation ground under Soviet oppression. "While we are working to help build a world of freedom and justice among sovereign people, the masters of international communism are working constantly to tear down this kind of world," he said.

The President's speech also contained an indirect appeal for the Senate to approve his Middle East resolution which the House has adopted, to provide for use of American forces in the Middle East, if necessary, and to authorize the spending of 200 million dollars annually there in U. S. economic aid.

"I believe that the well being of the people of the Middle East requires the nations of that region to build up and strengthen their economies and institutions," he said.

Proposals "Fit Purpose"

"We want to see that kind of progress. My proposals fit right in with this purpose, for they suggested two things:

"First, in order that this constructive work may go on within these countries, they must be free of the menace of international communism, which could smash all their hard-won accomplishments overnight.

"And so we give these countries the assurance that if such a danger develops, and if the United Nations machinery cannot deal with the danger, and a threatened country asks for our help, it can count on our help.

"So, behind the protective arm of this assurance, the real creative work of progress can go on, and to speed this creative work, an extra measure of economic assistance for the area is included in my proposals."

Parliament Backing Up Ben-Gurion

Israeli Premier's Gaza, Aqaba Stand Endorsed 72 To 29

JERUSALEM, Feb. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's repeated demands for security first on the Egyptian front won an overwhelming endorsement tonight in Israel's Parliament.

The vote of confidence was 72-29 on his firm insistence that guaranteed security and freedom of shipping must precede any withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt and Gaza.

What Ben-Gurion told Parliament indicated no change from the position he took last Thursday at the outset of debate. At that time Ambassador Abba Eban was getting a full-in here for relay to the State Department in Washington.

No Change In Terms

The 70-year-old leader told the Knesset (Parliament) in a major policy speech that Israel faces its most serious struggle since it fought for its life nine years ago.

Ben-Gurion healed a split in his own coalition ranks and conferred by telephone with his envoys in the United States and at the U.N. before going into the session.

In the face of opposition charges that he was paving a way for compromise on the withdrawals, Ben-Gurion reiterated his Thursday stand. He said "We want if possible to solve the problem of Gaza in cooperation with the United Nations."

But he made plain a prior condition is that Egypt must not be allowed to return to the disputed strip.

Solution Proposed

Ben-Gurion said, however, Israel will not demand an Israeli civil administration in the strip if the U. N. will take over. He said the reason was the prospect of a solution opened by a plan to send a U. N. commission to Gaza.

He also stood firm on his often-repeated demand that Israel must have unrestricted access to the Gulf of Aqaba, leading to Israel's southern port of Eilat. Egyptian guns barred Israeli shipping before the Israeli invasion of the area.

In addition to the hostility of opposition parties, Ben-Gurion had faced some opposition within his own five-party coalition. Critics charged Ben-Gurion's speech last Thursday had opened the way for yielding Gaza without guarantees against Egyptian raids from Gaza bases.

Knowland Hits Soviet Charge, Blasts Kremlin

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told the United Nations today that 20 years of Soviet repression is the true cause of tension in Eastern Europe.

Knowland, a member of the U. S. delegation, laid down a point-by-point indictment of Kremlin policy in answer to a Soviet demand that the United Nations condemn the United States for alleged subversive activity in Communist countries.

V. V. Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister, presented a resolution to the U. N. Special Political Committee, asking for the condemnation action. Similar moves have been defeated by overwhelming majorities in past years.

The Republican minority leader declared bluntly that United States policy is based on the everlasting hope that the "captive peoples" of Eastern Europe will be permitted to "enjoy those fundamental rights and freedoms recognized in the United Nations Charter."

Knowland declared that by bringing charges against the United States, the Soviet Union "is merely trying to divert world attention from its own year-in and year-out program of using foreign Communist parties to subvert and undermine the governments of free countries all over the world."

He blasted the Soviet charges of U. S. intervention in Eastern Europe as a "myth" designed to hide an act of "classic perfidy" in Hungary.

His charges against the Russians in Eastern Europe included suppression of "legitimate demands" for national independence, the imposition of puppet governments supported by Soviet armed might, and the plundering of their economies "for the benefit of the Soviet state."

Cries After Slaying Wife

A comforting hand is placed on the shoulder of William Hanna, 26-year-old machinist, as he sobs at Chicago police headquarters where he was questioned about the death of his teenage wife, Flora (inset). Detective Sgt. James Trout said Hanna related he plunged a butcher knife into his wife's back during a heated quarrel and then carried the wounded woman to a nearby hospital where she died.

Drill Sergeant 'Safeguarded' Blood Hit Them, Three Recruits Testify

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Feb. 25

(AP)—The first of four trials involving recruit maltreatment charges opened at this Marine training base today with Pvt. Kenneth Allen Benjamin testifying he was struck in the face by a drill instructor.

On trial was S. Sgt. William E. Rich, Canton, N. C., one of five drill instructors for Platoon 5, Company B, Third Training Battalion.

A defense witness, Pvt. Douglas Green, Middleburg, Va., said under questioning that the platoon from which the charges stemmed was known in the battalion as "the cry baby platoon."

Not At Attention By Bunk

Benjamin, of New York City, said Rich "hit me in the face with his fist" because he was not at attention by his bunk.

Two other recruits testified Rich hit them, though one added "it may have been unintentional." A third testified he was choked by the husky Marine who is more than six feet tall.

Pvt. Laverio Glusich, Brooklyn, N. Y., testified that Rich struck him in the throat with the edge of his hand "because I did something wrong" during a formation.

The recruit said he thought he was being disciplined by Rich for not standing properly at attention.

Suffered No Bruises

Pvt. Gateone Inglima, whose home address was listed only as New Jersey, testified he was sent to Rich "for causing trouble" during a period of waiting for attention from a dental officer.

Inglima testified Rich seized him by the throat, "choked me for a minute or two" then pushed him out of the drill instructor's quarters.

Benjamin, Glusich and Inglima all testified they needed no medical treatment and suffered no visible bruises.

'Bugs' Moran, Gang Leader Of 20's, Dies

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 25 (AP)—One of Chicago's once-famous gangland figures, George C. (Bugs) Moran, died today in prison, forgotten by everyone but the law.

The 64-year-old convict died of lung cancer at the U. S. penitentiary here, which he entered Jan. 11 to serve two terms for bank burglary.

An enemy of the Al Capone interests in the Chicago underworld, Moran was the leader of a powerful North Side gang until the Valentine Day massacre in 1929. Among the seven victims were several of Moran's lieutenants. Moran never regained his stature as a big gang leader after that bloody episode.

One Diplomat Expects Fight In Assembly

Israel Envoy Said To Have Offered No Compromise Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Ambassador Abba Eban of Israel was reported tonight to have returned from Jerusalem without any compromise plan for solving the Israeli-Egyptian deadlock.

An authoritative diplomatic source who would not be identified said there had been no change in the situation despite Eban's dash to talk to Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion.

He said the crisis will have to be fought out in the open in the U. N. Assembly. The Assembly will meet at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow to dispose of the Cyprus case involving Britain, Greece and Turkey. Diplomats said it then would turn to the Middle East crisis.

This development put a damper on the hopes of some delegates who earlier had pressed belief a solution was in sight.

Debate Delayed Again

Eban talked twice with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. They met for a 70-minute conversation at U. N. headquarters. After that talk, the Assembly debate on sanctions against Israel, set for their second talk, was called off. Their second talk was held early tonight.

Israeli sources said Eban's proposals dealt with a practical approach to the problem rather than with new material.

The authoritative source familiar with the course of the talks said Eban's trip to Jerusalem had had merely a delaying effect. Apparently summing up the conversations here and in Washington with Secretary of State Dulles yesterday, this source said the matter had not progressed in any way.

This source said Israel had not considered demands in the Assembly that U. N. Emergency Force, now on the Egyptian side of the armistice demarcation line, should be placed also on the Israeli side.

Several Plans Suggested

Several methods of Assembly action short of drastic sanctions were being discussed in U. N. halls.

One course reported under serious consideration would be a resolution noting that Israel would withdraw, that the U. N. Emergency Force would move in behind Israeli troops, that the Assembly would give assurances of no more belligerent acts, and that Hammarskjöld would go to the Middle East to consult on permanent arrangements.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson continued discussions with delegates on one possible course. This would call for a resolution asking Israel to withdraw and sending the U. N. Emergency Force into the area evacuated by Israel. The Canadians also were said to be thinking of suggesting the addition of a small ship for the emergency force to patrol the Gulf of Aqaba area and for light planes for patrol and liaison duties along the border lines.

Bill Would Make Commandments Law In Arizona

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Supreme Court today let stand the contempt convictions of seven Western Pennsylvania newspapermen for taking pictures of a murder trial defendant.

The seven took the pictures to test legality of a picture ban by the Westmoreland County Court at Greensburg, Pa.

Judge Edward G. Bauer of the county court issued the photo ban at the trial of John W. Wable, who was convicted as the slayer of a truck driver on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Wable was executed Sept. 26, 1955.

Wable was photographed in a corridor outside the courtroom while court was not in session.

Bill Would Make Commandments Law In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 25 (AP)—A state legislator today introduced a bill to make the Ten Commandments part of Arizona law.

Rep. L. S. Adams, a Phoenix Democrat, said: "It is my feeling that the 20 volumes of laws on our statute books are meaningless without the Ten Commandments."

Then he quipped: "I think it also might be interesting to find out whether or not the Arizona Legislature could pass the Ten Commandments without some eager beaver trying to amend them."

Film Director Key Figure In Spy Case Prosecution

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Boris Morros, Hollywood director and producer, today was named by the government as a key figure in its case against three persons accused of spying.

U. S. Atty. Paul Williams said the Russian-born director was the individual mentioned without name in 14 overt acts alleged to involve the defendants.

Williams made his statement at a hearing in behalf of Jack and Myra Soble, accused with Jacob Albaum of seeking U. S. defense secrets for transmission to Soviet Russia. The Sobles were seeking dismissal of five of six counts in the federal indictment.

Soble, 53, his wife, 52, and Albaum, 64, were arrested by the FBI Jan. 25 in New York. They have pleaded innocent to charges of spying for Russia over a 10-year period.

Soble currently is undergoing mental tests at Bellevue Hospital. He was found in a trance in his detention cell a week ago.

In seeking dismissal of the core of the indictment, the Sobles' lawyer, George Wolf, won the right to receive from the government a list of its potential witnesses against his clients.

The government replied that, with the exception of Morros, it doesn't yet know who its witnesses will be.

The overt acts in which Morros was allegedly a figure included a series of meetings in New York, Paris, Vienna, and Zurich which the government charges were set up for the exchange of data concerning the activities of the spy ring.

GM Reports Profits Dropped 29% In 1956

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—General Motors Corp., biggest of the world's manufacturing giants, today reported a net profit of $847,396,000 for 1956.

This represented a drop of 29 percent from 1955 when earnings soared to a record high of $1,189,477,000. But it still left 1956 the second best year in the corporation's history.

The big auto company's 1956 profit was equal to $3.02 a share, compared to $4.30 a share in 1955.

Sales of cars, trucks, tractors, locomotives, refrigerators and other GM products last year totaled $10,796,443,000—a decline of 13 percent from the record 1955 total of $12,443,277,000.

Mansfield Sees Danger In Full Reliance On U.N

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said tonight that the Eisenhower administration is following a disastrous "formula for inertia" in relying almost wholly on the United Nations to solve the Middle East crisis.

Mansfield, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said the administration has shown a "lack of policy" in handling events which he said were drifting in "a highly dangerous direction."

"There has been temporizing," he said. "Politics, domestic and international, have been played. We have done everything, so it seems to me, except face up to the problem and take the minimal steps necessary to keep peace in the Middle East."

As a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Mansfield said in a speech prepared for a Georgetown University lecture series that he agrees with Republican Leader Knowland of California that the U. N. has "basic structural weaknesses." Knowland spoke in the series two weeks ago.

Mansfield said he had seen "no evidence of eagerness" on the part of the executive branch either to work for correction of those weaknesses or to take the initiative to seek peace by other means.

"On the contrary," he said, "that branch seems willing to content itself on the one hand with sending to Congress an urgent resolution which on its own admission is directed at no immediate danger or difficulty in the Middle East. On the other hand, it continues to rely solely on the United Nations in dealing with the immediate and difficult problems of that area."

"That seems to me to be a formula for inertia, for drift, for delay and ultimately for disaster. It is a policy which would make the United Nations the scapegoat for our irresponsibility."

Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles led a welcoming delegation at National Airport as the French Socialist leader arrived aboard the presidential plane which brought him from New York.

Johnson "Resents" Dulles Letter Leak

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Johnson (D-Tex.) told the Senate today "I strongly disapprove and deeply resent government by leak."

The Democratic leader's ire was aroused by a situation which arose last Friday when, he said, the fact that a letter was on the way to him from Secretary of State Dulles was "leaked" to newsmen before the letter arrived.

Johnson said he had made known to President Eisenhower and Dulles his views about leaks, and had advised them he was going to speak on the subject in the Senate.

Johnson recalled to the Senate that there had been leaks, before senators received them, of the Middle East resolution now pending before the Senate.

These leaks were to "selected newsmen," Johnson said, adding "I do not blame newsmen for their enterprise."

But, he declared, "it is my belief this information should be available to all, or should be confidential."

The Dulles letter to which Johnson referred was in reply to one Johnson sent to Dulles Feb. 11.

In that, Johnson gave his views on whether sanctions should be imposed on Israel.

Johnson told the Senate that Asst. Secretary of State Robert C. Hill, in charge of the department's congressional relations, tried to reach him last Friday.

Hill wanted to arrange for meeting of Senate leaders with Dulles, held yesterday at Dulles' home, and also to bring the reply to the Feb. 11 letter, the senator said.

Johnson went on to say that he received a number of calls from reporters in the afternoon, before Hill ever arrived at the Capitol, advising that the Dulles reply was on the way.

Worker Crushed

DETROIT, Feb. 25 (AP)—A repairman, working beneath a street, was killed today when a 2,000-pound piece of concrete collapsed on him.

A burning flare-pot which fell into the hole with the concrete set off a gas explosion. Flames shot 30 feet into the air for 45 minutes before the gas was shut off.

The victim was Angelo Bottini, 36, an employee of the Detroit City Water Board.

Administration Asks Minimum Pay Extension

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Extension of the dollar-an-hour federal minimum wage to 2½ million now-exempt employees, most of them in retail trade, was proposed to Congress today by the Eisenhower administration.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, in making the proposal, told a Senate Labor subcommittee that most of the employees already earn the dollar rate or better.

Mitchell turned down suggestions by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) subcommittee chairman, that coverage under the Fair Labor Standards Act could be broadened more than the administration was proposing.

Mitchell said his plan was as far as Congress should go for the present. He opposed broadening the law's definition of interstate commerce to take in additional millions of workers. The AFL-CIO has called for extension to 10 million more.

Under Mitchell's plan about two million employees of 2,200 large department stores and other retail and chain store operations would come under the law.

It would cover another 500,000 employees in 800 large firms in local transit, seafaring, telephone, hotel, taxicab and construction industries.

Lawmaker Involved

Youth Given Jail Sentence, Another Fined For Scuffle

SALISBURY, Feb. 25 (AP)—One youth drew a 6-month sentence and another was fined $100 today on charges of assaulting a New Hampshire newsman and damaging a Maryland lawmaker's car.

The testimony in People's Court was to the effect that the scrap developed after an argument over the position of the car of Del. Robert P. Cannon (D-Wicomico.)

Treated at Peninsula General Hospital for abrasions of the face and arms was a companion of Cannon's, Lawrence Freeny, 38, a newspaperman of Clarendon, N.H., and former editor of a weekly here.

A fist was rammed through a window of Cannon's car in the scuffle at nearby Mardela early last Sunday.

Sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction was Clarence Van Meter, 20-year-old Mardela sailor who is stationed in New York. He was accused of assaulting Freeny. He also was fined $25 on a charge of breaking Cannon's window.

His companion, Ernest Lee Wagner, 18, also of Mardela, was fined $100 on a charge of assaulting Freeny. A $50 fine on a charge of assaulting Cannon was suspended.

Cannon said he and his wife and Freeny had been to a movie in Salisbury and afterward they drove Freeny to a home in Mardela where he was visiting.

As Freeny talked to them outside the car on the driver's side the Van Meter car appeared.

Cannon said there was some discussion about the position of his parked car. Cannon said there was enough room to pass but he moved it.

Freeny testified he said to the other driver, "Do you think you own the highway?" There was more exchanges of words. When a scuffle developed Cannon said he called State Police, who arrested the two youths.

Permissive Rail Embargo Lifted

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25 (AP)—The permissive embargo on export rail traffic to Baltimore and other North Atlantic ports was lifted today by the Association of American Railroads (AAR).

The car service division of the AAR said the ban was removed following the settlement of the 10-day dock strike. It had been in effect here since before the walk-out and in the other ports during the strike itself.

Although tug boat crews are still striking in New York, the embargo was lifted from railroads serving that port, as well as at Boston, Philadelphia and Hampton Roads.

A special commodity embargo on such items as grain and coal will remain in effect. Baltimore railroads have been operating with these for some time because of congestion resulting from the heavy movement of the commodities.

Seminary Offered Gift Of $1,500,000

WESTMINSTER, Md., Feb. 25 (AP)—Westminster Theological Seminary has been offered a gift of $1,500,000 from the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, providing the seminary can raise an equal matching sum.

Dr. Norman L. Trott, president of the seminary, said campaigns to raise the money are already under way in five Methodist conferences and another is being developed for the Baltimore Conference.

Tin Heir Wins $56,000 In Suit

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Jaime Ortiz-Patino, 26-year-old heir to a Bolivian tin fortune, won $56,000 damages in a libel suit today after his estranged wife declined to appear for the defense.

The attorney for the defendant, the London Sunday Graphic, brought the case to an abrupt halt this morning after a week of testimony. He said Ortiz-Patino's wife, the former Joanne Connelley who had been assisting the defense, refused to testify.

Justice Sir John Percy Ashworth, in wig and flowing robes, told the jury: "One of the gravest matters in this case was not the absence of Mrs. Patino today, but the fact that the defendants sought to put credit on her word."

"They had told the world—on her word that she was not prepared to support today—that her husband was a pervert and sadist."

The jury of 10 men and 2 women fixed the amount of damages. Ortiz-Patino claimed he had been libeled by a Graphic story which he said implied he treated his wife with sadistic cruelty and caused the breakup of their marriage.

Did President Play Cupid?

BURTONWOOD, England, Feb. 25 (AP)—A 17-year-old British girl, Pauline Kinsey, figured the best way to get action is to start at the top. So she sat down and wrote a letter to President Eisenhower.

She doesn't know what all happened since, but officials at the big U. S. Air Force base here have suddenly become cooperative, Pauline said tonight.

And now she thinks she has removed the last obstacle preventing marriage to U. S. airman James Coles, 20, Boston, who is doing time for going AWOL twice with romance aforesaid.

A court-martial on Feb. 6 sentenced Coles to hard labor for six months.

It was then that Pauline wrote to the President.

Illegal Salary Hikes Ordered Paid Back

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Mayor D'Alesandro, the City Council and other top elected officials today were ordered to repay to the city an estimated $50,000 in salary increases which were ruled illegal.

The increases were granted under two ordinances passed by the council and signed by the mayor last year.

Judge Reuben Oppenheimer also ruled that 23 other top level municipal employees were "career employees" and subject to the Court of Appeals decision which held the increases illegal.

Judge Oppenheimer refused to grant a petition by Atty. Hyman Pressman which asked that further salary payments be withheld from the elected officials until the indebtedness was cleared. Pressman also filed the main suit against the elected officials.

The high court held that salaries of elected officials could not be increased during their term of office.

Pinto Bridge Discussion Set Today

A discussion will be held this afternoon in Annapolis on a proposed new bridge across the Potomac river at Pinto and a new interchange with the McMillen Highway.

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said the board will meet with State Senator Charles M. See, officials of the Roads Commission, U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde and officials of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto.

The proposed bridge and connecting road with the McMillen Highway would be located some distance upstream from the present bridge and roadway, which skirts the ABL area. The present bridge and an underpass beneath the B&O Railroad tracks can handle only one-way traffic.

The road from the bridge to Short Gap which has been improved, will attract heavier traffic and it is hoped to have the new route approved in order to handle new traffic and also reroute traffic from the immediate area of the ballistics facility.

The county commissioners have been trying for a number of years to have the SRC take over the Pinto bridge as it is an interstate structure.

Gutted Home Termed Fire, Health Hazard

A house in the 600 block of Williams Street which burned last August 22 has been declared a fire and health hazard by the local fire chief who recommended to the Mayor and Council yesterday that it be torn down.

The structure, owned by August Robey, was gutted by a fire of undetermined origin.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, in his report, yesterday, said there had been a number of complaints about locating the structure there, and that he is still receiving complaints.

Parker said an insurance settlement in the amount of $1,750 has been made but that no effort has been made to correct the condition. Children have been seen playing in and under the burned-out structure, he added.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said the engineering department had looked at the house and considers it beyond repair. However, if Robey would want to work out something along the line of salvage, he believed a permit could be arranged.

The matter was referred to City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, Parker and Nuzum with power to act.

In other action, council approved the following temporary recreation employees: Clarence Shaw as basketball supervisor at $4 a session; John Miller, Floyd Elliott, Fred Showers, Ronald Cagle and James Roby as City League referees at $3.25 a game.

In a report on a Cumberland Recreation Board recommendation that the salary of Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, be raised from $2,400 to $3,000 a year, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the city cannot do anything since the budget for this fiscal year has been set. Buchholtz also said that in granting increases the city had to be on a general and not individual basis.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

An Individual Affair

As the old saying goes, if the shoe fits, wear it. If your shoe hurts, give it away. Many a woman who is smart about herself in every other way, seems to draw a complete blank when it comes to feet. Even a fashionable or very expensive looking foot is not worth it if it hurts. So clean house and discard every single pair of uncomfortable shoes.

Shoe manufacturers are giving us a variety of handsome footwear for just-right spring-into-summer costumes. There is no one influence walking away with any collection. A new era of prettiness is ahead—for instance the height of femininity is found in the evening slipper with back entirely made of silk rose petals. Even summer spectators have prettied up with white kid pumps with folded turban backs of black patent and white suede ghillies are light as a feather.

For healthy feet it's wise to change your shoes at least twice a day and don't wear the same pair of shoes day after day in succession. Most feet thrive on a change of different heel heights . . . it actually strengthens the arches.

Many shoes have broken into print. Flowered, printed silks, floral printed cottons and Roman stripe ribbons make up some of the prettiest shoes since the '20's. Satin continues to be a popular fabric for evening. But there is one rule to remember . . . satin has not yet been accepted for the street, so wear it only for evenings.

Tomorrow: Through dark-colored glasses.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal.

W. Va. Senate Gets Governor's Veto Of Civil Service Bill

Body Fails To Read 11-Point Message

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 25.—The West Virginia Senate received today Governor Cecil Underwood's veto of the Civil Service Act and directed that it be printed in the Journal and regarded as a matter of "unfinished business" for two or three days.

Before passing two bills, and sending them back to the House for concurrence on amendments, the senators again re-scheduled for 2:15 p.m. next Monday, March 4, consideration of executive appointments.

Gov. Underwood's 11-point message which he sent up to the Senate clerk Saturday was not even read when received formally in the chamber today. There was no comment.

Already during the weekend, however, there had been a break in the solid Democratic Senate ranks which had pushed the bill to its original passage on a straight party line vote.

Sen. Chenoweth (D-Randolph) announced at his home in Elkins that while he supported the measure on original passage he would not vote to override the governor's veto.

Before today's Senate session convened, some of the Democratic leaders, while refraining from any official comment, were inclined to minimize the importance of the legislation.

The Civil Service Act was designed to extend job tenure provisions of the Merit System Council to employees not now covered. Underwood objected to it on the ground it would hamstring the executive functions.

The Senate passed today, 21-10, a House-originated bill to establish a seven-member West Virginia State Board of Examiners for practical nurses, and to set up detailed licensing, examination and school curricula standards.

The House devoted its preliminary attention to passage of a set of four companion bills to implement the Korean Veterans' bonus approved by the people in last November's election.

The measure would provide for the issuance and sale of up to 22½ million dollars worth of bonds, hypothecate the unpledged penny from West Virginia's five-cent Cigarette tax to pay off the debt, and re-activate similar machinery for distributing the bonus money that was used in paying prior bonuses to veterans of the first and second World Wars.

Keyser Polio Clinic Set For Thursday

Free Salk Shots Are Available

KEYSER—The regular Mineral County Polio Clinic will be held Thursday at 8 a. m. in the Grace Methodist Church on South Mineral Street. First, second and booster doses of Salk anti-polio vaccine will be given to persons 20 years of age and under, and to pregnant women.

The second injection is given one month after the first; the booster dose is given not sooner than seven months following the second.

The Mineral County Health Department announced yesterday a clarifying statement over a misunderstanding about the age limits, which has been caused by the U. S. Public Health Service recommendation that persons up to age 40 acquire this protection against polio. This statement was meant to encourage persons in the 20-40 age groups to seek the inoculations from their private physicians, whose supply comes from commercial outlets.

The Public Agency Vaccine which is supplied to local health departments for these special clinics is earmarked for individuals, 20 years of age and under, in addition to pregnant women, and therefore cannot be used for persons over the age of 20 years.

Kemp Draws 6-Month Term

SALISBURY, Pa. — Jack C. Kemp, 21, Salisbury, Pa., in "double-trouble" with the law, has been sentenced to six months in the Somerset (Pa.) county jail, and fined $200 and costs on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

The sentence was passed by Judge Thomas F. Lansberry in Somerset County Circuit Court.

Kemp is the 21-year-old Air Force veteran who was convicted in January of manslaughter by automobile in Maryland as a result of another accident. He was fined $1,000 and given a suspended one-year sentence in Trial Magistrate Court at Grantsville.

Edward J. Ryan, who represented Kemp at first hearing, appealed the fine.

George W. Winters Jr., of Salisbury, prosecuted Kemp at the second hearing on a violation that occurred while Kemp was in service and on which action was delayed until his discharge.

Oakland Poultry Plant To Start Operation Feb. 27

OAKLAND — Production at the Sterling Processing Company poultry plant, scheduled to start Saturday, has been delayed until Wednesday.

Officials of the firm said a water line to the plant broke and there was some trouble with electrical installations.

Elbert Barron, plant manager, said the plant will start with 20 women and 12 men employees.

Chickens and turkeys will be processed and some will be fresh frozen. It is hoped to handle about 7,000 chickens daily for the present and eventually about 300,000 daily will be processed.

The $300,000 building which houses the plant contains 650-feet of conveyors, ice making machines, three refrigeration rooms, a chill tank and a quick freeze room.

Council Takes Action On Streets, Alleys

Ordinances providing for the closing of portions of certain streets and unnamed alleys in South End in connection with the B&O Railroad yard expansion program; and for closing a portion of Trenton Street in Walsh Addition were approved by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Ordinances also provided for appointment of commissioners to assess any damages.

The streets affected by the B&O expansion are Day, Emma, Key, South, Ontario, Vancouver, Laing (between South and Vancouver) and five unnamed alleys. The portion of Trenton Street in Walsh Addition which will be closed is between Elder and Elizabeth streets. It was requested by F. Perry Smith Jr., operator of Cumberland Box Company.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute a quit-claim deed with Mr. and Mrs. David Miller involving a plot 20 by 25 feet on the southerly side of Waverly Terrace. The deed was approved with understanding the plot is to be improved and Miller relieves the city of responsibility of cutting weeds and grass on the remainder of the plot.

Council approved requests of the Junior Association of Commerce and Red Cross for banners across Baltimore Street and under jurisdiction of the Police Department. The Jaycees want to advertise their Home Show, March 21-23, and the Red Cross its fund drive which gets underway March 4.

T. J. Klauenberg, general chairman of the Red Cross fund drive, made a brief appeal for assistance from council in regard to the campaign here.

Mayor Eves was also authorized to execute a contract with Maryland Hospital Service, Inc., for additional benefits and coverage for city employees. The plan is already in effect.

Council approved the law firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge to certify as to the legality of the sale of a $500,000 "Cumberland Urban Development Bonds of 1957" issue in May.

Order Would Release Butler For Surgery

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday said he had informed the attorneys for Howard Butler, 55-year-old Piedmont man who is accused of the gun slaying of Mrs. Velma Sharon, 43, also of Piedmont, to file an order requesting the release of Butler from Mineral county jail at Keyser, W. Va., in order that he might undergo facial surgery in a Baltimore hospital.

Judge See indicated he would grant permission for Butler to leave the state provided $3,000 bond is posted, and that a member of his family be responsible for his return for trial. The state, Judge See stipulated, would not be responsible for any expenses incurred by the necessity of the operation.

Butler was released from jail last Monday in order to be examined by Dr. R. W. Johnson, a Baltimore specialist. The court ruled that he be back in the Keyser jail by last Monday midnight.

Dr. Johnson has written Judge See informing him that he recommends surgery as soon as possible on Butler's jaw, part of which was shot away in the shooting which took place the morning of December 30. Facilities at the Baltimore hospital are expected to be available to Butler by Friday, Judge See said.

Butler's attorneys, Joseph A. Blundon, of Keyser, and Edward J. Ryan, of Cumberland, had previously filed a petition for bond for Butler's release, citing the recommendation of a Cumberland physician, but Judge See ordered the examination by Dr. Johnson.

Contest Deadline Nears

Cumberland area homemakers still have the rest of this week to enter the nationwide Mrs. America contest, it was announced yesterday.

Entries will not be accepted after Friday, March 1. Judging local contestants will start a few days later and the winner will be named March 15. Entry blanks can be obtained at local gas appliance dealers or at the gas company office.

Carl C. Robbins, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company manager here, urged all local homemakers to enter the contest which offers Mrs. America several thousand dollars worth of prizes.

"The gas industry, along with other co-sponsors of the Mrs. America contest, is seeking contestants who represent the average American mother and homemaker," the official said.

"Whether a homemaker is a bathing beauty is unimportant. The title of Mrs. America is bestowed upon a woman who has poise and personality—who plans and prepares meals on a budget—who is a good home-manager—

A Common Market For West Europe

Time after time, in recent centuries, the statesmen of Western Europe have dreamed and talked of unity and just as often the projects have fallen through. Today this unity seems at last within their grasp. In two sets of agreements reached in Paris, after long and arduous negotiation, six nations—France, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg—have set up treaties providing for the eventual elimination of trade barriers within the group and for the creation of an atomic pool.

This is a historic development which holds bright promise for the future and the magnitude of the accomplishment is not lessened by the fact that much remains to be done. No date has yet been fixed for the signing of the treaties. Even when signed, they must win final approval from the parliaments of the six nations and this may prove a thorny barrier.

In a sense, Western Europe is fighting for its economic life by planning a merger, just as small corporations combine to battle giant ones on more nearly equal terms. And while it is much too early to say whether the plan will succeed, the course of the negotiations shows with what desperate earnestness the leaders of the six nations feel that it is Europe's best hope. West Germany, for instance, has agreed to put up $200 million toward the development of the overseas territories of four of the nations, even though the Germans have no overseas lands of their own. France, the traditional enemy of Germany, will receive the lion's share as her overseas territories are the largest and least developed.

This alone symbolizes the giant stride Europe has taken.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Double Standard

On the very day that President Eisenhower delivered his address on the morals of international conduct, Soviet Russia in the Security Council vetoed a proposal to send a U. N. commission to India and Pakistan concerning Kashmir. It was a startling example of the double standard which prevails in the United Nations.

It will take a revision of the Charter to eliminate the double standard, the supporting structure of which is the veto which five powers can exercise at their discretion and without limitation. The one concerning Kashmir was the 80th veto that Russia has exercised out of a total of 87 vetoes.

The effort to establish moral stature by the United Nations depends upon its ability to police the great nations as well as the small. Picking on Israel is like a municipal court magistrate delivering a blow at a 14-year-old juvenile delinquent while gangsters, racketeers and politicians in the same town are in control of the courts, the mayor and the city council. The magistrate's virtue does not sound convincing when it is known how he happened to be appointed.

The United Nations can only establish its moral stature when its officials can enter any member state to inspect it for a violation of the Charter. As long as Soviet Russia can refuse to permit the United Nations to investigate the genocide in Hungary and the one-sided imperialism of India in Kashmir, no moral stature is developed by going after Israel which is an infant in comparison with these giants. No matter which side is right in the Israel-Egypt controversy, the United Nations will develop no moral strength by knocking off Israel. It is too easy to do.

The double standard, to repeat, is inherent in the veto. The United Nations is precluded by its own Charter, because of the veto, from effectively interfering with the great powers no matter what evils they may commit. President Eisenhower, in his speech, referred to the sacrifice of Great Britain and France in withdrawing from Egypt. They did not withdraw at the behest of the United Nations.

They withdrew largely because the Eden government lacked the stomach to risk a war with Soviet Russia which is the protector of the Nasser government in Egypt. Had the British and the French not hesitated, Nasser would have been dumped, someone else would have been in charge in Egypt, possibly Naguib, and the problem would have been solved as temporarily as most historic problems are solved.

Instead, hesitation magnified the Suez situation into a world problem for which the United States assumed all the liabilities. This is the second time that the Government of the United States found its policy in the United Nations, the first time being the Korean war which was euphoniously termed a United Nations Police Action, although most of the troops were American and practically all the costs were borne by the American taxpayer.

The United Nations possesses neither military nor financial strength but it is the member states which must enforce its resolutions. Thus far, the burden has fallen principally upon the United States. The question arises whether any nation would have assumed the responsibility in the Israel-Egypt situation if the United States had not. The answer to that undoubtedly lies in the Hungarian genocide—not a single nation has undertaken to do anything against Soviet Russia because of the slaughter of the innocents in Hungary. If the United States does enforce the resolutions of the United Nations no member state does.

There have, to date, been 87 vetoes in the United Nations. Soviet Russia has employed 80 of the 87, the other four veto-holding powers employing seven. The countries with a right to use the veto are Soviet Russia, Great Britain, the United States, France, and Nationalist China. Soviet Russia's use of the veto has practically neutralized the effectiveness of the Security Council. The bullet voting of the Afro-Asian group is neutralizing the effectiveness of the General Assembly.

Thus far, in the current sessions, the Western Powers, the United States, Great Britain and France have had little influence in the General Assembly and the American delegation has acted in response to the challenges of the Afro-Asian group. Krishna Menon is a more important figure in the United nations than any American, Britisher or Frenchman. This is not proportionate strength.

'This Washington Course Is Murder, Foster'

Mr. Khrushchev's Price Considered Too High

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON.

The report by this reporter's partner of his interview with the Soviet Union's number one man, Nikita S. Khrushchev, has of course been conned over word for word by the government's Soviet experts. The most important words, they agree, were those in which Khrushchev spelled out the Soviet price for withdrawing the Red Army from the satellites.

Khrushchev was more specific in this respect than any Soviet spokesman has ever been before. In return for withdrawing the Red Army, he said, "Western European countries would also withdraw their troops stationed in the territories of other Western European countries. The United States would also withdraw its troops to American territory from Europe and Asia, and along with that would go the liquidation of all foreign bases."

Thus Khrushchev demanded the liquidation of NATO — and of course it has always been assumed that this would be part of the price. But Khrushchev also demanded, in effect, the total liquidation of the American power position, not only in Europe but Asia. He demanded the withdrawal of American forces everywhere, from Greenland to Okinawa.

Another part of his price was that the Western powers should recognize the Communist regimes as permanent—"to accept this, as a believer would say, as something given by God." The clear implication here is that, even after the Red Army withdrew, the Soviets would claim the right to use force to prevent the overthrowing of the "God-given" Communist regimes.

Khrushchev's statement has thus greatly strengthened the negative side in a vitally significant subterranean debate which has been going on within the American government. The debate has centered around these questions:

Is it worth while to attempt seriously to negotiate with the Soviets on their terms for withdrawing the Red Army to their borders? If so, what price might the United States and the West be prepared to pay for such a withdrawal?

The debate has been subterranean because the subject of debate is as internationally sensitive as it is possible to be. Yet it has been a most serious debate all the same. Indeed, the subject has been discussed repeatedly by the President and the members of the National Security Council.

The immediate impetus of the debate was provided by the Hungarian uprising. Hungary seemingly proved three things. First, the Red Army, and only the Red Army, held the Soviet satellite empire together. Second, the only hope for the satellites therefore lay in the withdrawal of the Red Army. Third, failing such a withdrawal, further uprisings in the satellite were probable, and such uprisings — especially in East Germany — involved the clear risk of a world war.

Soviet Premier Bulganin's letter of November 20 to President Eisenhower, when the Hungarian We're advising parents not to get high corpse pressure over this Elvis Presley epidemic. It was old hat long before poke bonnets.

Rock-and-roll slang is small rutabagas compared with Victor Hugo's catalogue of the Break-o-Day Boys, Borrow's Gypsy Cant or the rhyming jargon of the Sydney Ducks of San Francisco.

Only slang developed in the last hundred years has been technical and unfair. It's the shop and operating indexing connected with great American inventions.

The popular singing of today stems from the last of the minstrels' Eddie Leonard. Back in 1900 Eddie sang "Ida" with re-petitious tonsils and stuttering reprises.

Long about 1910 Eddie heard about a kid singer at the Palace. Eddie sneaked in to listen to him and then made the most famous crack of vaudeville. "They're stealing poor old Eddie's w-a-w's." The kid was Al Jolson.

The next heir to the w-a-w's was Bing Crosby. The last of the jangleurs to sing from the neck up.

Bing has nineteen records that sold over a million each. He's trying for the twentieth and we hope he makes it.

Only thing wrong about Jolson and Crosby is their imitators.

Diabetics May Use Sorbitol Without Harm

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Diet is important in controlling diabetes. The quantity and quality of the food varies with each diabetic, and some get along without insulin whereas others require enormous doses.

Each diet contains a prescribed amount of carbohydrates, proteins, and fats. The exact formula depends upon the severity of the disease, the weight of the individual, and whether the urine contains sugar. The diet may be altered as soon as the condition is brought under control.

As with nondiabetics, those who do physical work are allowed more to eat than are sedentary workers. The final dietary schedule is geared to the needs of the diabetic in helping him maintain nutrition, resistance to infection, and normal weight. Vitamin deficiencies must be avoided. In this respect, no two patients use the same diet.

In addition, insulin usually is needed. Younger victims of the disease often require more than older diabetics. Some are able to dispense with insulin after it has been used for months or years. These persons have mild diabetes.

Insulin is not a medicine, like penicillin or aspirin. It is a hormone that replaces the insulin the diabetic fails to manufacture for himself. Insulin has the power to burn, convert, or change sugars so that the body tissues can make use of them. Unless these sugars are burned, they accumulate in the blood in abnormal amounts and are excreted through the urine.

But insulin does not affect all sugars. Sorbitol, for example, is a naturally occurring sugar in various fruits, vegetables, and berries. To the best of our knowledge it is not affected by insulin, and reasonable quantities can be used by the diabetic. From time to time it is incorporated into diabetic food products as a sweetening agent and for energy.

A group of physicians at Temple University used sorbitol as a sweetening-agent in a low fat ice cream. It was given to 50 diabetics as an extra dividend. The blood sugar level of the mild or moderately severe diabetic did not rise during the period of observation. If this research is substantiated, it means the diabetic can eat dessert without substituting the item for something else.

Every diabetic will be rewarded by making a thorough study of the sugar, protein, and fat content of foods. This allows a wider selection at the dinner table because anything goes, so long as it fits into his prescribed diet.

We have a list of books on diabetes. The list may be obtained by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with request.

Premier Mollet To Emphasize Unity In Europe In Talks With President

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When Premier Guy Mollet of France sits down with President Eisenhower for the talks which Secretary Dulles so long postponed for fear of antagonizing the Arabs, he will be setting two near records.

Record No. 1—He will have continued in office longer than any other postwar French Premier—if he reaches the date of March 15, as he undoubtedly will. He's already been in office 13 months—longer than other postwar Premier except Henri Queuille.

Record No. 2—More important, Mollet comes to Washington at a time when France has no problems with Germany for the first time in 100 years.

Three wars have started on the continent of Europe because of French-German rivalry — The Franco-Russian War, World War I, and World War II.

Today all questions between France and Germany have been settled, and the two men who govern them, Mollet and Chancellor Adenauer, genuinely like each other.

This leads to the two main points Mollet will emphasize in his talks with Eisenhower. They are:

1. A United Europe.
2. Eur-Africa.

For years, Mollet has been preaching a United Europe. The seeds of that idea were planted when he was a small boy in Arras near the Belgian border in World War I and watched his town get shot up, bombarded, beaten to a pulp first by the German armies, then by the Allied armies, then by the Germans.

Cooperation of Africa

Later he became mayor of Arras, later chairman of the European Assembly at Strasbourg; also a member of the European Coal and Steel Community, which has laid the foundation for European economic unity.

Mollet has been a tough and open critic of Dulles's Suez policies.

But there is one thing he can thank Dulles for. France and England have been so sore at the United States, they have worked harder at European unity. With the American alliance disrupted, they realize the importance of getting along among themselves.

Premier Mollet will outline to Eisenhower his plans for putting European cooperation to work in Africa—a policy which he calls Eur-Africa.

Recent French oil exploration shows vast oil deposits in the Sahara, enough to make Europe independent of King Saud and the Near East. Mollet wants to develop these in cooperation with Germany, Belgium, Italy, and Western Europe. He also wants to make Africa part of the European Economic Community through French and German capital, Italian labor, American and German machinery, French administrative know-how.

Note — The point Mollet will probably argue most vigorously with Eisenhower is that Nasser has got to go. There can be no peace in the Near East while Nasser continues to stir up the Moslem world. Mollet will point out that the Cairo Radio is the only radio station reaching all the Near East 24 hours a day in 32 languages and dialects, constantly preaching distrust of the West and friendship with Russia.

Lease-Purchase Flunks

The much-vaunted lease-purchase building program is bogged down much more than the public has ever dreamed. "Lease-purchase" is the plan to construct government buildings with private money, then lease them to Uncle Sam for 25 years, after which they become government property.

The idea was concocted by budget-balancers in order to prevent the outlay of government funds for capital expenses, and thereby balance the budget.

However, here are the unpleasant figures on what happened:

Since the lease-purchase program started in July 1954, 149 projects have been approved at a cost of $766,000,000. But only one has been completed—a Post Office at Rock Island, Ill.

Congressman Robert E. Jones of Scottsboro, Ala., will expose all this today or tomorrow. He will also propose that the government go back to the simple system used for 170-odd years, of appropriating government money to build Post Offices and other buildings.

Chief reason the lease-purchase plan hasn't worked is because of tight money. Banks and insurance companies aren't willing to put up the money to private builders unless they get more than 5 percent interest, and a rate above 5 percent for government loans is considered unreasonable. The Treasury now pays around 3 percent; use to pay between 1 and 2 percent.

Congressman Jones, incidentally, estimates that the 149 building projects which have been OK'd but not built, would finally cost the taxpayer $1,500,000,000 instead of the $766,000,000 bid. This is because taxes and interest payments during the 25-year period before the government inherits the buildings would have doubled the cost. Under the time-honored system of appropriating government money for government building, as practiced since the days of George Washington, no taxes and no interest are paid.

Mollet-Go-Round

Premier Mollet once taught English literature; also wrote a book on English grammar. He speaks English with a heavy accent, and when talking about Egypt recently some Americans thought he was talking about "Jeeps." . . . He was fired as a schoolteacher for union activity in 1932 after which he became head of the National Teacher Union. . . . Head of the Socialist Party, Mollet has been in politics most of his life. He talks Leftist when he's out of power, practices nonleft policies when in power. His has been a generally middle-of-the-road government. . . . Captured by the Germans in World War II, Mollet was repatriated as a prisoner and immediately joined the French Underground. . . . He went to Moscow last year but refused to leave the Atlantic Alliance. . . . Getting up at 7 a. m., he works about 18 hours a day, seldom sees his wife and family. Fifty-one years old, the French Premier looks mild and gentle, but is about the toughest statesman like will confer with this year.

Sixty dollars for a pair of seats for "My Fair Lady." Fifty dollars for two for "Auntie Mame." Same price for a pair for "Happy Hunting." That's what the ticket speculators in Manhattan are asking and getting. So says the entertainment industry publication Variety, long known as "The Bible of Broadway." If you see it in Variety it is usually so. Can the speculators be cured? I believe so. However, the conscientious co-operation of theatrical producers and show shop operators is necessary. I have some ideas on this matter and will present them shortly. New York must be made a better place for people of moderate means to visit. Also native New Yorkers of like incomes should have a chance to see the hit shows. The theatre-going situation should not be monopolized by a people on expense accounts.

We had hoped our expected child would be an Aquarian. Now it looks as if the new arrival will be a Piscean. Have many famous and successful persons been born under that sign? A. I should say there have been many famous Pisceans. I could fill a couple of columns with their names. However, will name just a few to give you an idea. As a starter there was George Washington. Also among the Pisceans are the following: Andrew Jackson, James Madison, James Russell Lowell, Victor Hugo, Longfellow, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Chopin, Lillie Langtry, Ellen Terry, George du Maurier, Caruso, Joseph Jefferson, Col. William "Buffalo Bill" Cody, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Marian Anderson, Geraldine Farrar, Gene Sarazen, Sam Houston, Alexander Graham Bell, Knute Rockne, Einstein, Luther Burbank, Bobby Jones and Elsie Janis.

Court Turns Down Appeal Of Bettor Who Offered Bribe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS)—The Supreme Court turned down today the appeal of a Des Moines, Ia., bettor who tried to bribe a Drake University basketball player to "shave points" in a game.

Floren Di Paglia based his appeal on a charge that the 1953 Iowa Sports Bribery Law is "cruel and inhuman" in its provision of a sentence of up to 10 years and a $10,000 fine — although he himself got his sentence reduced to five months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The Iowa Supreme Court held the bribery effort to be a misdemeanor — but still subject to the ten year sentence which would have to be served in a county jail instead of a penitentiary.

DiPaglia was convicted of trying to bribe Benjamin James Brumby, Jr., to hold down Drake scoring in a game with Iowa State College. The athlete refused and reported the offer.

Di Paglia originally got an indeterminate sentence up to 10 years at the men's reformatory.

On appeal, the state supreme court ruled the offense is a misdemeanor and his term was reduced to five months and his fine set at $1,000.

Besmanoff Gets Nod At St. Nick

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—German's Willie Besmanoff launched his American campaign successfully tonight with a one-sided decision over sluggish Calvin (Bang Bang) Wilson of Philadelphia in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Besmanoff, an 8-5 favorite, outwitted his outclassed rival, 194 to 100.

It was the 12th straight victory for the 24-year old Berliner who stepped into the heavyweight class in his U.S. debut. He had been a lightweight-heavyweight contender.

The votes, all for Besmanoff, were: Referee Barney Felix, 9-1; judge Mike Davidowitch, 7-2-1; and judge Charley Rosen 7-3. The AP card had the German in front, 194 to 100.

Pro Football Is Ruled Subject To Antitrust Laws

Supreme Court Delivers 6-3 Verdict On Radovich Appeal

Justices Express
No Opinion In NFL
Violation Of Law

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Supreme Court today decided professional football is subject to antitrust laws.

Justice Clark delivered the 6-3 decision, given on an appeal by William Radovich, onetime football star at the University of Southern California.

Justice Harlan wrote a dissenting opinion joined by Justices Brennan, Justice Frankfurter also wrote a dissenting opinion. That meant the majority was composed of Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Reed, Douglas and Burton.

In 1953 the Supreme Court said baseball was not subject to antitrust laws.

Suit Tossed Out
Lower courts threw out Radovich's suit for $105,000 damages from the National Football League and others.

Radovich alleged in his suit that the league tied players to a particular club and prevented them—by use of a reserve clause and a blacklist—from becoming free agents. The reserve clause, similar to one in baseball, binds a player to a club which has the right to trade him.

Clark said today's high court majority said, "the volume of interstate business involved in organized football places it within the provisions" of the antitrust laws.

Clark said Radovich's claim for damages "need only be tested under the Sherman Act's general prohibition on unreasonable restraints of trade and meet the requirement that he has thereby suffered injury."

Clark said Radovich "is entitled to an opportunity to prove his charges," but added: "Of course, we express no opinion as to whether or not respondents (National Football League and others) have in fact violated the antitrust laws, leaving that determination to the trial court after all the facts are in."

Cites Distinction
Harlan, in his dissenting opinion concurred in by Brennan, said today's decision putting professional football under antitrust laws was either "making untenable distinctions between baseball and other professional sports" or making a discriminatory fiat in favor of baseball.

Frankfurter's dissent said a "most conscientious probing" of the Sherman antitrust law "fails to disclose that Congress, whose will we are enforcing excluded baseball—the conditions under which that sport is carried on—from the scope of the Sherman law but included football."

Suit Must Be Tried
The decision means Radovich's suit must be tried; it had been thrown out of lower courts. It does not mean that the Supreme Court is making any finding now as to whether the pro league has violated any law.

Radovich's suit charged the National Football League and others attempted to monopolize interstate commerce in the business of professional football, in violation of antitrust laws.

He alleged the defendants tied players to a particular club and prevented them, by use of a reserve clause similar to that used in professional baseball, from becoming free agents.

The Justice Department supported Radovich in arguments before the Supreme Court. Government counsel argued against a decision of the U. S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco holding football, like baseball, was not subject to antitrust laws.

Claimed Boycott
Radovich claimed the National Football League boycotted him after he jumped in 1946 from the Detroit Lions of the National Football League to the Los Angeles Dons of the All America Conference, now defunct.

In stating that Radovich is entitled to an opportunity to prove his charges, Clark said: "Of course, we express no opinion as to whether or not respondents (defendants) have, in fact, violated the antitrust laws, leaving that determination to the trial court after all the facts are in."

Not included in North Carolina's basketball string this season is an early-season game with the independent McCrory Eagles. The Tar Heels won that one, too.

Mounts To Vie In NCAA Games

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Mt. St. Mary's was selected today to represent the Mason-Dixon Conference in the NCAA small college basketball tournament which opens next Monday.

The Mounts made the choice of the conference executive committee an easy one. They have clinched the regular season league title with a 12-1 record. Their overall mark is 17-4. Since losing their first three games of the season, the Mounts have won 17 of 18 games including the last 12 in a row.

Mt. St. Mary's will be the host team March 4 to one of the "at-large" teams of the tourney, expected to be a Pennsylvania school. Second-round games will be played March 9.

Arnold Palmer Wins Houston Open Tourney

Edges Doug Ford To Take $7,500

By MAX SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—Arnold Palmer, 27-year-old National Amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., fired a three-under par 69 today to come from behind on the back nine and take $7,500 in top money in the $36,000 Houston Open.

Trailing by one stroke after the front nine, Palmer's 35 on the back nine gave him a 67-72-71-69—279—nine under par—and left him one stroke ahead of Doug Ford, his former roommate on the winter golf tour.

Ford, the former PGA champion from Mahopac, N. Y., took a 280 with a final round 70 that was good for $4,000.

While Palmer and Ford were blasting par, yesterday's leaders, Gene Bone, young newcomer from Louisville, and Bob Harris, former national collegiate champion from Winnetka, Ill., were having putting troubles.

Harris' 73 gave him third place and $2,500 at 281. Bone, the leader after the second and third rounds, jumped to a 78 for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course. This left him in a tie with Mike Souchak, Grossinger's, N. Y., at 284. Each won $1,600. Bone earlier had won only $33.34 on the winter tour.

A 73 slipped Jimmy Demaret, a Houston native playing out of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., past Bone and Souchak. He collected $2,000 for his 282.

Noorsaga, 9-1 Shot, Splashes To Win At Hialeah Park

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Mrs. S. C. Ulrick's Bay's Noorsaga, exceedingly fond of the muddy going, proved an easy winner of the $5,000 Alamanda Purse at Hialeah Park today, splashing home 4½ lengths before G. & M. Stable's Ben A. Jones, the 7 to 5 favorite.

It was the colt's first success here this winter in three starts. Calumet Farm's Pintor Lea, making his first appearance since the 1956 Kentucky Derby in May, was a fast-closing third, though never a contender in the field of seven older horses. He finished third, about two lengths back of Ben A. Jones, and a length and a quarter before Skysweeper.

Earlier in the day, Calumet had taken the opener with Rosewood.

Noorsaga, ridden by Johnny Choquette, went off at 9 to 1, and paid $20.90, $6.80 and $3.50. He covered the six furlongs in the excellent time of 1:11 2/5, considering the bad condition of the rain-soaked track. Ben A. Jones, handled by Paul J. Bailey, paid $3.40 and $2.70. Pinto Lea, with Willie Hartack up, was a $3.10 third. Fabulist was a late scratch.

Hartack once again hugged the spotlight when he made it a triple aboard Jocko's Walk, $5.50 favorite, in the mile and a furlong eighth.

FORT HILL'S 3rd STRAIGHT UNBEATEN TEAM—Coach Henrietta Snyder's Fort Hill High School girls concluded their 1956-57 season on Friday with a 9-0 record and extended their winning streak to 36 games for 3½ seasons. This year's team, captained by Lucille Aaron, Joann Porter and Jeannette Bean, the only seniors on the squad, was the third in a row to finish the season with an unblemished record. Mrs. Snyder, who played basketball at Allegany High in the 1920s, has been coach at Fort Hill for 10 years. Five of her ten teams were undefeated.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (INS)—We were talking yesterday of old timers who successfully promoted big fights when broke in contrast today to Jim Norris, whose wealth has been estimated at more than $200,000,000.

The old timers were in even sharper contrast to the late Mike Jacobs who often laid out more than $100,000 of his own money before a big fight.

Mike started his business career by hustling small stuff to make huck on the old Cony Island steamboats and the Hudson River day and night boats.

Later he branched out by hustling opera tickets—at a reasonable advance over the box office price, of course—and by the time the late Tex Rickard hit town, Mike was a wealthy man and prepared to do business in the background with Tex.

Later, still, when Mike was ready to take over as the country's leading fight promoter, he was a millionaire and one who knew all the angles the old timers used and some they never even dreamed of.

Mike had an uncanny ability to judge the worth of any production. Whether it was a Broadway musical show or a big fight, Mike could invariably tell within a thousand dollars or so what it would gross.

Give Mike a few hundred ringside seats to handle through his ticket agency and he would wind up with more dough than the promoter.

Mike was said to have netted for himself some $185,000 over and above the regular price scale on the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight which grossed $2,658,660.

Even when Mike himself was promoting he could make a fortune selling tickets at a premium through his own ticket agency.

Buhl Is Satisfied, Burdette Unsigned

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Righthander Bobby Buhl, who delayed signing his 1957 Milwaukee Braves contract in an effort to win a raise in pay, came to terms today and reported that he was "satisfied" with the deal.

Buhl, an 18-8 winner last season, signed for a reported $17,000 to $20,000. Estimates of his 1956 salary ranged from $13,000 to $15,000.

The signing was accomplished at a 15-minute conference with General Manager John Quinn. It reduced the ranks of unsigned pitchers to two—Lew Burdette and Ernie Johnson, both of whom are in Bradenton but have taken no part in the training activities for batters.

Also unsigned are shortstop Johnny Logan, outfielders Billy Bruton and Wes Covington and first baseman Frank Torre.

"You get an idea how easy the money came and went in those days when Al Capone once gave an usher a $100 tip at one of Mike's fights in Miami."

Then there was the classic occasion the night of the Jim Braddock-Joe Louis fight in Chicago when Mike, afraid of being held up, stuffed a fortune in cash into two auto tires. Those were the days.

Many west coast observers doubt that the Brooklyn Dodgers would play in Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, if they move the club to the coast. A new stadium would have to be built.

Strong Point Annexes Bowie Feature Race

Beats Lord Chumley, Handle Is $875,286

BOWIE, Md., Feb. 25 (AP)—Strong Point owned and trained by Arthur H. Bowen, won the $4,000 Takoma Park Purse at Bowie Race Track today by a nose from Lord Chumley, the even-money favorite.

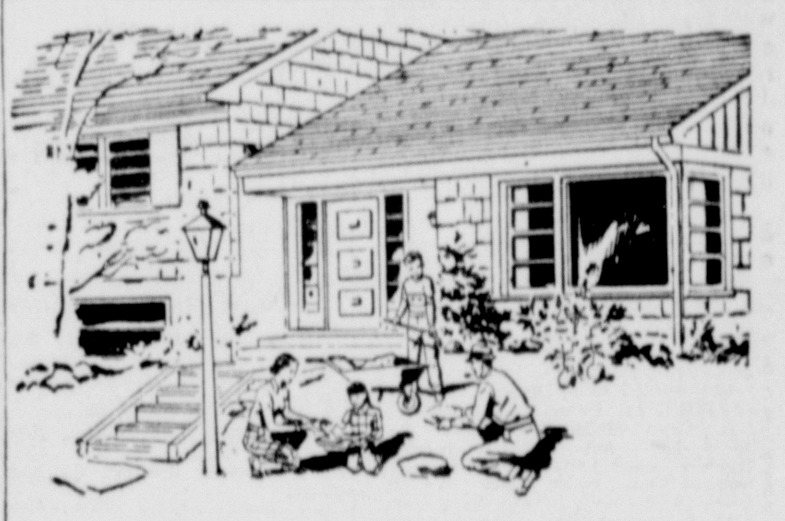

Strong Point, ridden by Roger LeBlanc, got up in the final strides of the 5½-furlong feature to nip Lord Chumley, owned by Mrs. E. D. Jacobs.

The favorite, who outfinished Sky Fiddle by a length and a quarter, had no excuse after forging to the lead with a strong rally in midstretch.

Strong Point paid $9.40 and was timed in 1:06 4/5. The daily double (Nos. 3 and 11) was worth $114.20 with Preemptor taking the opener by a nose from the favored Jet Base, and Plus Fours winning the second by a length and a half over Terry S.

Preemptor, ridden by Fred Pannell, paid $11.20, and Plus Fours, with Russell Oliver up, returned a $10.60 mutual.

Except for Saturdays and holidays, the crowd of 10,758 fans was the largest of the meeting, as was the mutual handle, totaling $875,286.

Market Trend Irregular; GM At Another New Low

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Some highly selective gains and losses featured today's stock market which was generally irregular in slow trading.

A drop by General Motors to an other new low was one feature of a fairly drab performance.

Cutbacks by GM's Chevrolet division backgrounded the fall in this stock which is the "biggest" on the exchange in terms of listed shares and their market value.

But some gains, notably among the oils, ran to 3 points or better. Generally, however, the range of gains and losses was held to within a point or so.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose a minimal 10 cents to $172.20 with the industrials up 20 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Among the 15 most active stocks there were ten gainers, four losers and one unchanged.

GM was the most active stock, off 1 1/2 at 38 1/2. A downside barrier for this stock was penetrated a couple of weeks back when it sank below 40, a resistance point which had held since the stock was split in 1955. GM's turnover totaled 63,300 shares.

GOP Committee Stands Pat On Appointments

Several Selections Being Questioned

There were no indications yesterday that the Allegany County Republican Committee, which is being asked why some incumbents were not recommended for reappointment, will reconsider its "green bag" appointment package.

The appointment to the post of magistrate for juvenile causes is the major issue raised in communications received by the committee since the recommendations were forwarded to Governor McKeldin.

The GOP committee recommended that Fred H. Anderson, local attorney, be appointed to the important position now held by Magistrate Morris Baron.

Governor McKeldin last week handed the list, which will make six changes in county jobs to the Senate's Committee on Executive Nominations, which is slated to act on the program this week.

Queries Received

Asked by a reporter if he had received any communications asking for explanations for the appointments, or for reasons why some of the incumbents were not reappointed, James S. Getty, chairman of the GOP committee, said he had.

Mr. Getty said he, as chairman of the Allegany County Republican Committee, has received several telegrams, letters and telephone calls.

Some, he said, requested explanation of the committee's recommendations for several appointive offices of the county, and others asking if the committee could be reconvened to reconsider any of the appointments made.

Replying to a query with respect to recommendations made by the committee, Mr. Getty said they are advisory only, and represent the considered opinions of members of the committee, who were duly elected, the same as other office holders, for four-year terms.

Has No Vote

Mr. Getty explained that as chairman, he was appointed by members and consequently has no voting power.

"I have the utmost respect," he said, "for the seven members of the Allegany County Republican Committee, who have worked earnestly and diligently in guiding the destiny of the Republican Party since 1954, and, as the November elections will certainly indicate, have done an excellent job with the cooperation of various Republican organizations throughout the county."

The communications, Mr. Getty told The News, included a telegram from an organization asking reconsideration of the Juvenile Court appointment, and a letter from the Lonaconing Republican Club asking an explanation of the recommendations.

He explained that the recommendations made by the committee do not, in every case, reflect his personal views, but that he did not feel that he, as chairman, has any right to induce the members to follow his suggestions.

He added that the committee had not, in his judgment, recommended anyone who is not competent to fill the office for which he was recommended.

Won't Call Meeting

"I'm certain," Mr. Getty said, "that each member of the committee had sound and compelling reasons for casting his vote in the manner in which it was cast, and I recommend each member for exercising his judgment in these matters."

The recommendations were made by unanimous action of five members of the seven-man committee.

"The majority of the members of the committee," Mr. Getty explained, "have indicated to me that they do not wish to reconsider any of the appointments made and I have no intention of calling any such meeting in view of their expressed wishes."

State Senator Charles M. See indicated last week he will confirm the appointments made by the committee and sent down to the Senate by Gov. McKeldin. A state senator generally has the final say on appointments affecting his county.

Fire Starts In Water Pumping System

John Winters, brother-in-law of Ivan Godlove of Vale Summit, is shown inspecting damage done to the Godlove residence yesterday afternoon, after a short-circuited water pump set fire to the dwelling and gutted most of the interior. The Godlove family is being housed temporarily at the Winters' home. Firemen from four companies fought the blaze and were successful in saving the exterior walls. Damage was extensive but was partially covered by insurance.

Animal Society Offers Reward In Dog Poisonings

What appears to be a wave of dog poisoning is sweeping a section of LaVale, and the Allegany County Animal Welfare Society is offering a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of spreading poison.

Several dogs have died within the past few days in the LaVale Terrace area. In at least three cases death has been attributed to a highly dangerous type of rat poisoning.

A local veterinarian says the poison is odorless, tasteless, and colorless, and there is no known antidote for it, once it is taken internally. The poison breaks down and destroys the red corpuscles in the blood stream and finally reacts violently against the lining of the stomach. In most cases, the animal lingers up to six days, in severe pain, before it dies.

The three dogs known to have been victims of this type of poison were all registered animals and highly prized pets.

Richard M. Johnson lost a registered Collie. The animal lingered about six days.

Frank Sims lost a two-year-old Boxer. The dog lived about five days after taking the poison.

William Barger lost a 3-year-old Pomeranian. This smaller dog died in about three days.

Members and officers of the Animal Welfare Society pointed out that it is illegal to spread poison where domestic animals or children can reach it, even though it might be intended for rats or other vermin. People who use poison for any purpose even though their intentions may be good, are equally outside the law unless due care is taken.

Some of the residents in the area believe these poisonings may have been deliberate.

An investigation is being conducted, and the society members emphasized their determination to stamp out the practice if possible, and to make an example in the courts of any person suspected and formally accused.

Over 500 License Tag Sets Sold

In an effort to avoid a late rush for the purchase of new Maryland automobile license tags, automobile owners yesterday almost created an early rush more than a month before the tags must be displayed.

J. Wallace Close, tax collector at the Allegany County Court House, who is the official license tag agent for this county, reported that some 511 sets of the new tags were sold yesterday here. The sale started Saturday and in that first morning's activity 65 sets were sold.

The new green tags with white numerals and letters must be displayed on all private automobiles on or before midnight Sunday, March 31. Most applications were received Saturday or yesterday by car owners.

Scouts Qualify For Advancement

Three scouts qualified for advancement at a Nemacolin District Board of Review held last week at Potomac Council headquarters.

John Adams of Troop 1, sponsored by St. Luke's Lutheran Church, qualified as a second class scout and James Gaffney of the same troop, for first class.

Duane Welder of Troop 10 of LaVale Methodist Church, qualified for star rank.

The Board of Review was conducted by J. L. Towler, chairman, and Paul Cornwell, member of the advancement committee.

Awards will be made at courts of honor held within the troops.

Four Companies Check Blaze At Vale Summit

Fire Damages 7-Room Home

Volunteer firemen from four area companies yesterday afternoon fought a stubborn blaze which caused heavy damage to the seven-room frame home owned and occupied by Ivan Godlove and his family in Vale Summit.

No one was home at the time of the blaze, which was discovered about 2:15 p. m. Firemen said the blaze apparently originated in electrical wiring of a water pump located in the basement of the two-story building.

Flames ate their way up through the joists and into the flooring of the residence and the fire was confined to the interior of the building by the outer covering of asbestos shingles.

Damage Is Heavy

Firemen said the kitchen was "a wreck" and most of the damage was centered in that room of the house, although damage by both fire and water was caused in other sections of the residence.

A stairway leading to the second floor was damaged extensively, as was the flooring above the kitchen. Heavy damage was caused by water, especially in the downstairs portion of the house.

Since the attic was also ablaze, water damage was caused to the second floor. The building, which was reported to be covered by insurance, will have to be remodeled before being occupied again, firemen added.

Clarysville volunteers received the initial call and when they arrived on the scene, saw the home was full of smoke and in flames. Immediately they called for help and contacted Frostburg, Shaft and Midland on the two-way radio hookup, which fireman lauded yesterday for its usefulness.

Booster Tanks Used

Since water was scarce at the scene the 1,600 gallon tank trucks of Clarysville and Midland were put to good use. The volunteers were able to confine the flames to the home and kept them from spreading to two nearby homes.

Mr. Godlove, who is employed as a tractor-trailer driver, was on the road at the time and was still unaware of the fire last night. His wife and smaller children were visiting with her sister in Cresaptown and the older children were at school. There are five children in the family, ranging in age from 7 months to 14 years.

Approximately 60 volunteer firemen from the four companies went to the scene and fought the blaze.

D'Alesandro Will Speak At Men Of LaSalle Dinner

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr., of Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting planned here March 31 by the Men of LaSalle to honor the outstanding Catholic layman of Western Maryland, according to John J. Long, president.

Mayor D'Alesandro will be introduced by former Judge William C. Walsh at the dinner to be held in St. Mary's Hall.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will serve as toastmaster and Mr. Long, who heads the

Friend Agrees To Change In Appointment

Asks Gortner To Take Election Post

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (P)—Sen. Friend (R-Garrett) said today he is attempting to settle a Garrett County row over Gov. McKeldin's appointment of Albert Shaffer of Kitzmiller as a Democratic member of the county election board.

"Shaffer was nominated at my suggestion because I thought he could help settle the deadlock over voting machines in our county," Friend said in explaining the appointment which drew protests from the county Democratic State Central Committee.

He agreed to back down on his choice since "the law is on their side" and said he has asked Harvey Gortner of Grantsville if he will accept the position.

Was On List

Gortner, a businessman, was one of four names on a list submitted by the central committee to Gov. McKeldin for choosing a minority member of the Board of Supervisors of Elections. The others were incumbent William M. Treacy of Oakland, Edward Buckel of Bittinger and Leo Helbig of Oakland.

When this list was passed over and Shaffer was elevated from a list of prospective substitute supervisors, Chairman James B. Nally claimed that the central committee's top four choices were "completely ignored" in violation of the law.

Friend did not say what he planned to do if Gortner did not accept the appointment. He did say that he would not confirm reappointment of Treacy. The governor's appointment to the post is subject to Senate confirmation, and local senators usually have the say in matters of this type.

Could Solve Stalemate

Friend said in suggesting Shaffer he had thought he would be acceptable to the Garrett Democratic officials.

"They did not send me a list of their nominees and the first time I saw it was in the governor's office," he said.

Friend said he feels either Gortner or Shaffer could solve the impasse over voting machines which has existed for months in Garrett County, the only county now without them. The principal argument among members of the election board and county commissioners has been over which of two types to buy.

Friend said unless the matter is settled on the local level soon the case will wind up in the Court of Appeals at great expense to the county.

Policewoman Added To Force

Another policewoman has been added to the force in Cumberland, bringing the total number of members to nine.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn announced yesterday the newest member of the organization is Mrs. Dorothy Heavener, RD 4, Golden Lane.

She has been assigned to the corner of Virginia Avenue and Second Street, according to Chief Flynn, who hopes to add another member to the group in the future.

The new policewoman received preliminary instructions from Chief Flynn before assuming her duties at the intersection.

She is also getting "on-the-job" training from Officer Henry Stichter, who has been assigned by Chief Flynn to instruct the women on traffic control and other police work.

The policewomen are stationed at busy intersections in the vicinities of local schools as a protective measure in assuring that children will get across the streets safely.

Chief Flynn pointed out yesterday the women are "doing a good job" and he has received commendations from principals of local schools citing the women for their work.

A recent meeting of the policewomen was held at the office of Chief Flynn.

Uniforms Issued To Police

Something new has been added to the uniforms of members of the City Police Department.

A left shoulder patch with the words "Cumberland Police Department" will identify members of the local force. Yesterday the officers were picking up their new uniforms at the Metro Store which was low bidder for furnishing the uniforms.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn said 50 such uniforms were ordered by the department and they will be worn as soon as possible by the officers.

The amount of the bid accepted by the Mayor and Council this past month was $3,637.50. Chief Flynn pointed out that officers get a new uniform every other year and a reefer in alternate years.

The letter on the shoulder pad is white on the regular blue color of the uniform.

Strict Control Of Billboards Is Advocated

Industry, SRC Plans Before Legislature

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 25 (P)—Two blockbusters aimed at stricter control of billboards along Maryland highways were dropped into the Maryland Legislature tonight.

They appeared less than 24 hours before the Senate Finance Committee planned a public hearing on a less potent bill for roadside control. The House Ways and Means Committee also has set hearings for Thursday on two bills on the subject.

The "big" ones came from the State Roads Commission and the outdoor advertising people themselves. It is the first time in the many years that "roadside control" has been argued in the Legislature that the billboard interests offered their own formal program.

SRC Plan Stricter

The main difference between the two major proposals is the stricter aspect of that by the State Roads Commission.

The State Roads Commission is asking legislative authority to make future rules and regulations, including areas along any highway on which billboards may be erected or removed.

The outdoor bill specifically names sections of nine roads on which there would be restrictions. Both bills provide for license fees and higher permit fees according to size.

The nine roads named by the outdoor bill as being restricted:

1. Baltimore - Washington Expressway.
2. York - Harrisburg Expressway.
3. New U.S. 240 from the District line to Frederick.

Include Scenic Areas

4. Portion of U.S. 240 between Frederick and Hagerstown already designated by the SRC as a scenic area.
5. Portion of U.S. 40 between east slope of Sideling Hill and Martin's Mountain previously designated a scenic area.
6. New section of Blue Star Highway northeast of Centerville.
7. Portion of 219 north of Oakland to Deep Creek Lake now designated a scenic area.
8. New U.S. 50 from District line to Chesapeake Bay Bridge.
9. Ritchie Highway between Baltimore and Annapolis.

However, the restrictions would not apply to areas zoned as industrial or commercial along those roads.

"It's all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough," commented Joseph D. Buscher, special attorney general who prepared the roads commission proposal.

Del. Lee (D-Montgomery) was a sponsor of both bills. He said he went on the outdoor proposal so both could be considered simultaneously.

Minority Leader Hughes (R-Allegany) joined Lee on the outdoor bill. Last week, Hughes had asked his name be withdrawn as a sponsor of another roads commission proposal that billboards be banned with 500 feet of limited or access roads.

The other roadside control bill before the House committee is to authorize county commissions to regulate the billboards.

The Senate has an identical version of the one to vest authority in the county commissioners, and the Senate Finance Committee will hold a hearing on it at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Vote Counter Breaks Down

The House of Delegates in its formal session disposed of 12 bills and three resolutions in about half an hour even though its electrical voting machine broke down near the end.

None of those passed was far-reaching except one of interest to fishermen. It will promote the establishment of artificial fishing ponds or lakes.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission will be authorized, if the Senate goes along, to license private ponds for $25 and permit the owner to stock them.

The Senate dined through a long session, enacting bills so the State Roads Commission may regulate testing of motor vehicles on highways and to clamp down on slow poke drivers.

The bill requiring roads commission approval of road tests was caused by a manufacturer using part of U.S. 40 in mountainous Western Maryland to run trucks back and forth.

Slow drivers could be charged the first time they are noticed impeding traffic under a bill given tentative approval and set up for enactment tomorrow. Enforcement officers now must first issue them a warning.
